GET TO KNOW ME

I'm Anastasios Tatarakis, but you can call me Tasos. Recently arrived in Copenhagen, I bring nearly two years of IT helpdesk experience and am currently interning in full-stack development at NordInsight. Before relocating, I ran a web development freelancing business in Greece, collaborating on short-term projects to create user-friendly web applications. My experience spans the healthcare sector, where I contributed to secure and efficient tech solutions. I also have a background in hospitality and finance, adding depth to my technology know-how. My varied background has sharpened my adaptability and problem-solving skills. Outside of work, I enjoy 3D printing, playing basketball, and nerdy talks about specialty coffee.
